Dear Senator Carlson:

Thank you for your letter of 8 March enclosing Form 57 for

STAT

STAT

We appreciate [] interest in working with us during the summer of 1963. Our needs for temporary employees are quite limited in number, however, and it is not economically practical to investigate and clear young people for such short periods of service. Thus far, we have been able to fill our requirements by recruiting young people who are already associated with the Agency through the employment of their parents and on whom most of the required background information is already available. Consequently, we have followed the practice of limiting our summer-only employment to this group.

We are glad to know that [] mentioned a specific interest in our Agency and have written to him to invite his application for regular employment when he completes his college studies. A copy of our letter to him is enclosed for your information.

Senator Frank Carlson has written to us about your interest in employment with us next summer. We are glad to know that you are interested in our work and regret to advise you that we do not have a summer employment program which would permit you to work with us.

We are enclosing a brochure which describes our general employment requirements and opportunities in the hope of maintaining your interest in us while you are completing your academic work. We shall be very glad to consider your application at that time and suggest that you write to us about six months before the end of your senior year to obtain our application forms.

Thank you again for your expression of interest in our Agency. We hope to hear from you again.

Dear Senator Hart:

Thank you for your memorandum of 7 March regarding an inquiry which you received from [] concerning her application for employment with this Agency. [] has also written directly to us in this connection and we are enclosing a copy of our reply to her for your information.

STAT

As [] advised you, she was not selected for employment with us because it was determined that she did not meet our overall standards of employment. As indicated in our letter of 26 February to her, a copy of which is enclosed, there was no single factor which was controlling in this determination.

When [] applied for a position with us we advised her that the Agency had special employment criteria and that there was no assurance that a final offer of employment would be forthcoming. We also advised her that in the event it should be determined that she did not meet Agency employment standards, she would not be supplied with specific reasons. The fact is that, notwithstanding her fine skills and training, [] did not fully meet our more comprehensive requirements.

Although it is necessary for us to reject applicants from time to time, it is never an easy action to take because we are fully aware of the disappointment and dislocation of plans it often occasions. We regret very much the impact this has had on her employment plans.

I trust this information will be helpful to you in responding to [] inquiry.

Your letter of 3 March to  has been forwarded to this office for consideration and reply.

Let us assure you that the action taken on your application for employment in this Agency does not preclude your application to other government agencies. As was indicated to you in the initial stages of your application, the nature of our work dictates special employment criteria. Your application to any other agency would be evaluated by that agency in terms of its requirements and any special consideration relevant to its work. The fact that you were not selected for employment here does not mean that you could not meet the standards of any other agency and you should feel free to apply to other agencies of interest to you.

Your request for classification as to the reasons for the decision in your case has been considered. As we indicated previously, however, this determination was based on a comprehensive evaluation of all pertinent factors including your education, skills, medical condition, personal characteristics, and background. There was no single finding which was disqualifying nor does the final determination reflect adversely on your acknowledged academic achievements or your talents and abilities. Such factors as these served as the basis for the initial decision to process your application further.

We deeply regret the disappointment to you and the dislocation of your employment plans. Unfortunately, our initial action on any application must be tentative and subject to the outcome of time-consuming investigations and evaluations. Your patience and understanding during this process were appreciated and we are indeed sorry that you did not foresee the possibility that a firm offer of employment might not be forthcoming upon its conclusion.

Sincerely,
